DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 15-18 are objected to because of the following informalities: In claim 15, "the signal" lacks proper support in the claim. Appropriate correction is required.
2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-9 and 11-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Japan '486.

Japan '486 discloses the claimed invention. A throttle valve 56 resides within the induction system, and closing of same would result when the engine is shut down responsive to the output from the overturn sensor. Further blocking devices 22,23. A designated time period is provided by the controller as claimed. A closed throttle valve inherently comprises a blocking device as claimed.

Re claims 8,13 and 18, such a turn over sensor will have an inherent lag between the righting of the craft, and the output of the sensor indicating such positioning. Such lag is inherently a "predetermined time".

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3617

5. Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japan '486 in view of Takashima.

Japan '486 fails to disclose a lanyard switch as claimed.

Takashima teaches same.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide Japan '486 with a lanyard switch as taught by Takashima.

Such a combination would have been desirable at the time of the invention so as to provide for enhanced safety of the watercraft.
